My Somewhere in the Middle of Time stages 1-3 second version and stages 4-6 first version files

Here I will describe this project and archive page in more detail as I feel I have better flexibility here than on archive.org description interface. I for some reason as of writing this (24th September 2024) can't access metadata editing this archive.org page so I will also make some corrections and elaborations as deemed necessary.

About Somewhere in the Middle of Time (S.I.T.M.O.T. or more popularly, SITMOT for short):

Somewhere in the Middle of Time by Fantastic Mr. Foxtrot's is a part of an audio manipulation fan/passion project which goes by the same name, which aims to recreate The Caretaker's albums used in Everywhere At The End Of Time as well as Everywhere At The End Of Time (EATEOT) by applying audio effects as close as Fantastic Mr. Foxtrot could get them to those used to alter the audio in The Caretaker's original work, but by using the entire sample in the tracks.

This document will refer mostly to About Somewhere in the Middle of Time as alternative recreation of Everywhere At The End Of Time. As such, there are 2 to 3 versions Somewhere in the Middle of Time available to the YouTube public, 3 versions of stages 1-3, 2 versions of stages 4-6. m4a files I've provided in the archive.org page this is provided in are from second version of stages 1-3 and from the first version of stages 4-6. Also note that the I named m4a files from track 41 onward as Somewhere in the Middle of Time track insert number as the track names surpassed windows' file name system character limit and as such couldn't be properly named.

Archive.org didn't order the m4a files properly so I felt it would be right to provide actual track order for combination Somewhere in the Middle of Time versions I've got files from, with their full names, including track order number (provided in page below).
